CREATIVE REPRESENTATION

In addition to your application we would like to get an idea of how you see yourself now and how you imagine yourself "changed" after doing the SSJ Mission Corps. One of the main focuses of the SSJ Mission Corps is "One Year to Change a Life". This statement has many layers of meaning, from the lives you will change by working with people who are poor and marginalized to the many ways your own life will change. We would like to ask you to do a self-reflection/creative representation piece on the way or ways you will be changed over the course of a year in the SSJ Mission Corps. There are 2 aspects to cover in this "project":

1. Part of your creative representation should reflect how you see yourself/who you are currently. Essentially, what makes you, you. Include what is important to you now, your faith, values, what characterizes you.
2. The other part of your creative representation should reflect who you will be after a year in the SSJ Mission Corps. How will you be changed? What or who is the type of person you hope to be after the year is over? How will you be different?

Feel free to be creative and take this "art project" in the direction you see best fits with answering these questions. Examples include: a collage, drawing, painting, etc. You will not be judged on your artistic ability and feel free to keep it simple. ☺ We just want to get a sense of who you are and how you envision your life changing as a result of doing a year of service with the SSJ Mission Corps.

Please submit this creative representation along with your completed application to:
